Million Bales - The North American Review and Mr. Black, Etc.

ON THE TRAIN, November 30.-[Special Correspondence.]—While in New York a few days since I found a much more bullish feeling in regard to cotton than was noticeable a month ago.
"We have been misled so often," said a leading tion of the New York cotton market."

I dropped in at Latham, Alexander & Co.'s, and lost on Mr. A. T. R had a talk about the remarkable statement of that firm, which aggregates the crop at 4,700,000 bales. Mr. Latham said, "You must bear favorably known in Atlanta, will make that city in mind that is not our estimate. It is simply the his residence after next month. He will establish aggregate of a great mass of reports sent to us. We a stock brokerage and banking business. He is were desirous of getting for the information of our customers an idea of the size of the crop. It was

"Your returns were full?" "Yes. We spared no trouble or expense in getting thorough and impartial statistics, and the returns covered every section of the cotton-growing states. We are in daily receipt of letters confirming the returns we have had."

Mr. Hentz, of New York, of the oldest cotton house in the city, rode with me from the south.

'I have changed my opinion of the crop since I came south. The concurrence of short crop news in New York had httle effect on me for I am too old for that sort of thing. But I have ridden through the Memphis and Charleston road that a pool is the best cotton states, and from personal inspection I am satisfied that the crop will be much shorter than I thought. I looked into the matter care-

Mr. Ford, the capable editor of Bradstreet's siveness, says he is satisfied the crop is much shorter than is believed in the general market. Of the methods employed by Bradstreet's to get air and full returns, Mr. R. P. Salter, the cotton aber of the firm of Latham, . Alexander & Co.,

We were astonished at the system and thoroughness shown by Bradstreet's. They showed us their report and the manner of getting it up, and it is wonderful. They have a correspondent carefully The story is told that he called selected in every county that grows over 300 bales of out of a great mass of men-for wherever a man shows himself incapable or unreliable or partial they drop him and select another. They will, of well pause in the search for another literary Philcourse, perfect the system more as it gets older, but adelphian.' it is very full and thorough now.'

The estimate made by Bradstreet's is about 4,500,-600. Of course this is under the real crop very much lected they will underestimate the crop. Mr. Salter, who is excellent authority, says he thinks the statement of his firm as collected from their corre- any of them, who will not get back, directly or in spondents is about 500,000 bales under the true yield | directly, double what they have put in. in other words, that it will be about five and a quarter to five and a half million bales.

And yet it is a very dangerous thing to handle. Cotton is noted for doing just exactly the thing it is not expected to do Therefore, while I think the farmer who has a few bales of cotton still unsold will do well to hold it for better prices, I don't want

THE NEW YORK HERALD.

There has been so much speculation as to what James Gordon Bennett did in the way of felt an interest in knowing who was really left in saying that the last place to "find out" anything about the Herald is in the Herald office. From pe eetly reliable outside sources I learned, however, that Mr. Bennett had left Mr. T. B. Connery, who had charge of the Herald for several years, at the helm. In doing this Mr. Bennett showed himself no less wise than grateful. Under Mr. Connery's admirable management the Herald has had a known before. It has been established as easily the the best newspaper in the world under his capable handling, and to-day has more readers, greater popularity, and a wider field of usefulness than ever its history. Mr. Connery is modest to a degree-retiring, quiet, and devoted-with an aversion for vain glory or display. He shrinks from anything like notoriety, preferring to give himself, body and soul, to the great work before him. I should not have written oven this much about him, except that certain men whose dismissal have come from his hands have been publishing all sorts of absurd things about him. Good journalists everywhere will be glad to know that these stories are false, and that Mr. Connery is still at his post in the front rank of journalism, honorably illustrating

The charge of Black that the editor of the Review had deceived him, only increased the trouble. New York, December 3 .- [Special.] -- Bradstreet's this morning presented an estimate of the cotto-crop, which included an allowance for the increase ed acreage and extra number of bales due to their short weight. New Orleans, December 3.—The Democrat publishes specials from all portions of the cotton country giving the latest news of the condition of the crop. The reports from Alabama show a decrease in the crop of twenty per cent as compared with that of last year. In Arkansas the entire crop is gathered, and will range from forty to fifty per cent below that of last year. In Georgia the crop will be generally 1-32 short, except around Columbus, where the yield is better than last season. The parishes in Louisiana show a great difference in yield, Moorehouse not reising one-fifth of a crop, while St. Landry has nearly an average yield. The yield for Mississippl is about sixty-nin per cent, somewhat less than what was anticipated. The Texas crop will be half an average one.

Miss Tyler had been an invalid for upward of six years with a peculiar disease which kept her confined to her room most of the time. She was treated by eminent physicians from New York and Philadelphia, but in vain. In October, 1880, she heard of a female in Connecticut who cured people by prayer, and to this person Miss Tyler wrote, receiving a reply appointing the 26th of November as the day when Lillie should, with her friends, pray for her restoration to health. The day came, and Miss Tyler was so weak she could scarcely raise her head from the pillow. The company included her family and pastor. Rev. Thomas Wescot. At noon they commenced their prayers, and before night the young lady was able to go about the house, and, as her cure has been entirely effected, she has just redeemed the pledge made long ago to Mr. Mitchell, and they were married last Saturday by the same elegyman who prayed so fervently only a year before for her recovery. The case has attracted widespread attention, and the story as told by the bride is true in every particular. ok place a day or two ago, preciously one year

WASHINGTON, December 3.- [Press.]-17 out of the 8 members of the Pennsylvania delegation held a conference this morning, at which, after some discussion, all the members present agreed to ote for General Keifer as speaker. The absentee was Mr. Bayne, who sent word that he will vote for Mr. Hiscock. It was also determined by the seventeen members to support William Bunn, exegister of wills, of Philadelphia, for election as ergeant-at-arms. Five of the members announced themselves in favor of Edward McPherson for the position of clerk of the house, but it was finally decided that the delegation should not make an effort to elect any Pennsylvania man to that office, but favor its being given to some New Yorker, probably Mr. The result of the Pennsylvania conference is generally regarded as highly favorable to the prospects of Keifer's success, but the other prominent candidates still profess undiminished

The speakership fight has taken a new and most interesting phase. The staiwart element of the republican party, led by Senator Cameron, is now notly engaged in trying to make a combination on Keifer. Cameron went to New York two or here days ago and consulted with the stalwart leaders there. He came to Washington and is working all his influence for Keifer. The anti-stalwarts are aware of this, and have concentrated upon Hiscock. This new phase leaves Kassorr a bad third in the race, and indications are that he has no chance. Kasson is backed by Bilaine, which makes him objectionable to the stalwarts. An anti-Cameron member of congress from Pennsylvanis said that the stalwarts had decided to take Keifer as their candidate, to beat Hiscock and Kasson, and that Keifer's friends had agreed to the combination. This member said that twelve of the Pennsylvania delegation are certain for Hiscock, and thinks fourteen will vote for

Kasson's two may go to Keifer. The friends

It was soon whispered about the court that the defense had subpened President Arthur, vice-President David Dayis, Speaker Randall and Senator Bayard to appear in court this morning, and the interest in to-day's proceedings was immensely increased. The court was opened at 10:05, and Mr. Scoville began at once by calling Colonel J. O. R. Burnside, disbursing officer of the post-office department. The witness formerly lived in Freeport, Ill., and knew the prisoner's family. He testified that Mrs. Guiteau was an invalid, and he seldom saw her. The prisoner overtook the witness and handed him his business eard. He didn't speak with him above three minutes. The witness saw Guiteau, perhaps, a dozen times at the national republican commit tee rooms during the late presidential campaign. The prisoner earne up to him gleefully, and patting him on the shoulder said: "You are on the right track." The witness never saw Guiteau doing anything at the committee rooms other than reading papers. He seemed; to have no special employment. He thought Guiteau had an "illy balanced mind" but never discovered anything to indicate that he could not distinguish right from wrong. The evidence created quite a stir in the court room and seemed to stagger those about the defense table. The sister of the prisoner was particularly excited and intensely made the remark, distinctly caught by the reporters: "He has perjured himself, that is all there is about the defense table.

Senator David Davis was called but knew nothing about the prisoner.
Two or three other witnesses were examined and the court adjourned till Monday.
The object of putting David Davis on the stand was not apparent, but Mr. Scoville said it would be explained when the argument came on. The following are passages from his examination:
Q—From your knowledge of the political difficulties which grew up last winter and spring, and from your knowledge of the American people, what, in your opinion, was a probability of their difficulties disrupting and destroying the republican party?
A—That is a far reaching question. The republican party has not been destroyed, and yet there have been breaches in it. There is only one way in which the republican party can be destroyed.
Q—In what way is that?
A—That disruption of the democratic party would destroy it. [Laughter].
Q—Is it your honest opinion that the difficulties between the branches or factions of the republican party have been, or are in danger of absolutely disrupting the republican party.
A—That is a mere matter of opinion. I cannot understand this line of examination. The republican party is an extraordinary organization. I do not believe it will die until the democratic party is dead. [Laughter.]
Q—What is your ppinion on this point—whether the success of the democratic party at this time, or at the next presidential election, would imperil the existence of the republic?

A—I do not think that the success of any political party would imperil the republic. I don't believe that at all.

Q—Do you believe that the success of the democratic party would tend in any degree to bring on an ther civil war?

—No, I do not think that the southern people are the last people in the world to desire to go into any war. If there be any war it will come in a somewhere else than the south.

NEWARK, Offio, December 3.—"We will be at the Palmer House, Chicago, Thursday morning.

"Mr. AND Mrs. W. R. Ogders."

The above brief sentence contains the sequel to a romance in real life, which has been the topic of conversation in Newark bon ton society for the past two days. Young, beautiful, and popular clara Moore, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Moore, was justly styled a leading belle of Newark, and her friends, who judged from the attentions with which a prominent and highly respected young business man of this city had courted her for several years past, were in constant expectation of receiving the cards announcing their approaching marriage. But Tuesday there appeared in this city a handsome and dashing young gentleman from Omaha, Nebraska, named W. B. Ogden. The lady had told her friends that she was going to Columbus to visitan old school friend. But she didn't. She and Mr. Ogden boarded the aftermoon train for Mansfield, while the now discarded lover, who had a hint of what was going on, was closely watching the Columbus train on the other side of the depot. Letters received from the runaway couple, dated at Mansfield, announce their marriage there yesterday and their subsequent departure for Chicago. The young man, whose laccrated feelings forbids my giving his name, is bearing up the best he can under the crushing news, while the lady's friends, who can but sympathize with the gentleman, earnestly hope that his sudden marriage will be a happy one.

SHELBYVILLE, December 4.—Last Sunday morning a young lady named Julia Hill died in this city and was buried Monday morning at the Liberty church cemetery five miles cast of here. Suspicion was aroused that her death was die to unnatural causes, and such a pressure was brought on the coroner that to-day he, in company with Drs. Drake and Perry, exhumed the remains for the purpose of holding a post mortem. The body was dissected and parts of it brought to the city for further examination, but the result of the inquest will not be made public till to-morrow.

New York, December 1.—A richly dressed and handsome looking young woman appealed to a police efficer in the city hall park this evening for protection. Miss Gould had persuaded her to come to New York. She appealed to the police officer begattes she had become frightened in the park. Miss Stevens was taken to police headquarters. This piece of mechanism is indeed most remarkable—a multiplicity of automatic figures, a steamboat in motion upon a lake and a train of ears with train men who get on and off at the stations and signaling the engineer—make up a panorams of the busy world of labor that is most unique and interesting. It is useless to attempt a description of what is to be seen in this attractive room, but the admission fee is only en cent and the best thing The Constitution could do is to say that no man has seen the exposition until he goes to the little world.

Car Couplings.

Captain John W. Thompson, of Salado, Texas, has a model car coupling on exhibition in 'the railroad building, in the Texas department, of which he is the inventor. Patented 15th November, which he is the inventor. Patented 15th November, 1881.

This invention consists of certain devices whereby the coupling-pin, raised in the draw-head, is supported until the draw-heads strike each other in coupling, when the coupling-pin falls by gravity. The same device is employed to raise or lower the link to suit the different heights of cars. This invention further consists in the peculiar construction of a link attached to the cow-catcher of a locomotive, thereby it is coupled to cars as above stated. The operator is entirely out of all danger in coupling or uncoupling. The work is simple easy and accurate. The model on exhibition will fully exemplify the work necessary to be done in coupling cars. Those interested would do well to call and examine for themselves. You will find the inventor in charge who will take great pleasure in operating and explaining to your satisfaction.

The Pine Wood Distillery.

The pine wood distillery and the immense value of this novel patent machine, on exhibit by William Messau and R. Pause, made a very successful and final run December 1st under representatives of the Shelby iron works, of Alabama, the honor certificate of the party below.

This may certify that we watched the experiment test in distillation of pine wood made by William Messau, at the Atlanta exposition, December 1, 1881. We measured the wood before it was put into the retort, and measured all products, and watched the process from beginning to end. The wood was below the average in quality. The wood placed in the retort weighed six hundred and three and one-half pounds, (663%) or about one-seventh of a cord, The product was as follows: 1½ gallons spirits of turpentine weighing 12½ pounds, 21 gallons of pyroligneous acid, 9 gallons tar, 25,122 cubit inches charcoal. At the same rate a cord of pine wood would produce 87½ pounds turpentine equal to 12½ United States standard gallons of 7 pounds each, 147 gallons of pyroligneous acid, 63 gallons of tarcoal of 2,748 cubic inches each, 147 gallons of charcoal of 2,748 cubic inches each weighing, dry from the retort, 15 ½ pounds per bushel.

desire to thank the public for the very cordial manner in which they have patronized their exhibit.

During the past week the rush of visitors to this stand has really been greater than it was possible for them to accommodate, and the agents have done everything in their power under the circumstances to make the public feel at home.

However, if any one failed to receive proper attention, it was unintentional and they herewith tender an apology for the same.

The manufacturers of O. N. T. only applied for a very limited space, as the exposition officials de clared they had applications for twice as much space as they could accommodate. However they find some other thread houses with two and three times as much space as that allotted to O. N. T. and have not half the material to fill it with, as shown by the vacant space and deserted appearance of their exhibits.

The manufactures of O. N. T., again extend a cordial invitation to every lady and gentlemen to come and see their magical machinery, which is the envy of every thread manufacturer in America.

An attempt has lately been made by one of their competitors to belittle and write down this superb machinery, but like every other effort made, where truth and honesty is ignored, it only recoils on the heads of the calumniator.

The manufacturers of O. N. T., are distributing every day thousands of spools of this really superior thread, and would ask every lady to come and get a sample box, well knowing that after once using she will always use it. The O. N. T., is very rapidly becoming a household word in Atlanta, and it will age and hamlet in the south shall proclaim O. T., king of spool cotton.

No Competition in Spool Cotton.

There will now be no competition amongst the spool cotton manufacturers at the exposition. The manufacturers of Clark's O. N. T. spool cotton discovered after they came to Atlanta that the only house in America that they recognize as a competitor would not enter into competition with them, therefore the O. N. T. manufacturers have withdrawn. The only manufacturers of spool cotton left are a New England company, who make a cheaper thread and who came into competition with the O. N. T. at the great world's fair held at Paris in 1878, where O. N. T. was awarded the gold medal, while this New England thread received a silver medal. It would, therefore, under the circumstances, be out of place to make any further tests at Atlanta after the matter was so fully and ably decided at Paris in 1878 in favor of O. N. T. by the best spool cotton judges in the world. The exhibits will therefore be continued as displays only, but not for competition.

Warner's Cotton Worm-Killer.

Warner's Cotton Worm-Killer.

One of the curiosities on the grounds is a Texas saddle equipped with a pair of unique bags filled with water. On inquiring what this is for you will be informed by Professor Jack Warner, a regular old brick, that it is to kill the cotton worm. He will then explain to you how he uses poison mixed with the water, and with one hand and a horse with this accourtement on he will in one day destroy every worm on twenty-five acres of cotton. He is backed by good certificates, and he is in dead earnest. Professor Warner was the quartermaster that fed the Libby prisoners during the war at Richmond, and it is said he was a good feeder. He was born in Ohio and raised in Missispipi, and since the war has lived in Texas. Talk with him and he cau explain this machine to perfection.

the main building, and as he did so he heard a gentleman say:

"I have been through the works of this company at Worcester, Mass. They are the largest in the world, the premises amounting in area to more than twenty-two acres. The company has a capital of a million and a half, employ 2,600 operatives, and manufacture millions of miles of wire. They have a monopoly of the barbed wire business, but as they control all the patents of course they have selected the best for themselves and have put the other patents into other hands. There can be no doubt that the Glidden wire is the most beautiful, and the best wire that is manufactured, and it is so recognized."

What Housekeepers Should See.

Among the most noticeable eatures of the Art department, we saw one article which should command the special interest of all dwellers in warm climates. The combined water cooler, filter and refrigerator, of M. Greeaebaum of Chicago, is the most complete thing of its kind ever made, and surprising y low in price, considering the results obtained. It certainly consumes less ice, produces better results, allows no decay or contagion of flavors and filters water in a perfect manner while making it ice-cold. It is perfectly ventilated and adapted for more uses than any other, and is pronounced the only refrigerator made which is always perfectly sweat proof in the storage compartments.

Exposition Police Points.

The exposition guard have had quite a busy week—not so much in watching disorderly parties and preventing disturbances as in watching valuable exhibits and answering inquiries.

The valuable pocket-book, with money and papers, lost by J. P. Clements, of Tunnell Hill. Ga. and returned to him by Lieutenant J. W. Smith, of the exposition guard, was duly acknowledged. Many articles are found and returned daily the exposition grounds by the guard. Par should call at department of protection on Chief P. Thomas, to make inquiries for lost articles, good many articles are still on hand unclaimed.

More lost children were reported this week than uring any week since the exposition opened. In very instance the little fellows were soon found and returned to their parents by the guards. There were very few disorderly parties on the grounds this last week.

Visitors would do well to take Chief Thomas's advice in visiting the exposition grounds—leave your money in the city at bank or with friends, except enough for small purchases and ticket money. There is no use in holding out inducements to the light fingered gentry to visit the grounds. Up to this writing the exposition grounds have been peculiarly fortunate and free from such depredations.

SAM RANDALL is to be complimented. THE determination of the greenbackers to vote for Mr. Ladd, for speaker, may delay proceedings in the house indefinitely.

THE cotton crop of the current year, in the opinion of many New York statisticians, will fall short of 5,000,000 bales. Bradstreet's estimate however, places it at 5,014,170 bales.

" Four days of the Atlanta exposition," says Governor Blackburn to the Kentucky legislature, "is worth forty days of legislation." What a level head that old man has It beats a billiard table.

DAVID DAVIS was on the stand yesterday. and divided himself very evenly between the political parties. He intimated that the next war would not come from the south. This was very considerate in David.

In our New York letter it is stated, for the benefit of those who wish to know, that Mr. Connery is still in charge of the Herald. Some discharged employes of that paper have been endeavoring to write Mr. Connery out of the field.

The business prosperity of the country is on a solid basis, and no amount of croaking can disprove the fact. A heavy trade, carried on by legitimate methods, attests the growing confidence of the people in the resources of their country.

The track of the Texas Pacific was connect ed with that of the Southern Pacific at six ceremonies, two ladies driving in the last spikes. The ceremonies had to be conducted by the light of bonfires, owing to the lateness of the hour at which the work was comple.

The news from South America is, as usual full of base intrigue and revolutionary movements. The arrest of President Calderon, of them a love for country life-truly a praiseworth Peru, by the Chilians, is explained in such a purpose. way as to show that he was in the way of some treasonable subordinates, who procured the arrest, and thus put him out of the way. This, however, does not relieve United States Minister Hurlburt from blame, as the entire diplomatic corps look upon his conduct as being unprecedented and officious. A warcloud also looms up between Gautamala and Mexico, in which event Gautamala will receive the support of the other Central American states. Gautamala has also ruffled the dignity of the French minister, who has reorted the matter to his government.

NOTWITHSTANDING the declaration of the president that he would not interfere in the contest for the speakership, the hand of the administration was felt in the republican caucus on yesterday by the selection of Mr. Keifer as the party nominee. The enthusiasm of the party called for Mr. Kasson, but finally the half-breeds showed a predilection for Mr. Hiscock. This fact called Don Came ron into the field as the stalwart champion and through his influence the vote of Pennsylvania was secured for Keifer. It was soon understood that the loaves and fishes were to be found in Keifer's larder, and a stampede was made to his standard. In the language of that eminent republican campaign orator Guiteau, the stalwarts are in power now.

OUR TAXABLE PROPERTY.

Some days since the gratifying fact was noted that, for two years past, the estimated value of property in the city of Atlanta, made for taxing purposes, was exceeded largely by the actual returns. That this fact was largely indicative, not only of the progress of Atlanta, but of the advancement of values throughout the whole state, there could be no doubt, and the following statement of the assessment for 1880-1881, made by the comptroller general, proves it to be true Returned on digest, 1880....$239,525,752

This gain is not based on an increased assessment, but represents new capital in the shape of new buildings, new manufactures and improved farms. It is an increase that proves the actual growth of the wealth of Georgia and is one of the strongest evidences that the resources of the state are not yet exhausted, and that the people are becoming rich and prosperous. In every city in the state there is activity in building; new companies are being formed to conduct manufacturing enterprises; new railroads are improving the territories through fatherly advice. UICIDE. An Essay on Comparative Moral Statistics By Henry Morselll, M.D. The International Scientific Series. New York: D. Appleton & Co. Considering the remarkable increase of the sui idal mania, this scientific treatment of the subject, based upon statistics, must be regarded as a most time'y study of this curious development of civili-zation and society. Dr. Morselli treats suicide analytically and synthetically, and his summing up is

Coffee Production and Consumption, With an Appendix Containing Letters Written During a Trip to the Coffee Plantations of the East, and Through the Coffee Comsuming Countries of Europe. By Francis B. Thurber, New York, American Grocer Association.
Mr. Thurber has written an exceedingly interest ng work. There is a good deal of the shop, and general air of restless diffuseness in his style, and the result is a bulky volume which might have been judiciously condensed into one-half the space but those who have the leisure to devote to such matters will find the book full of valuable informa-

HANNAH JANE. By David Ross Locke (Petroleum V. Nasby.) Illustrated. Boston: Lee & Shepard. Atlanta: Phillips & Crew.

This is one of the most elegantly printed books of e season, and is full of beautiful engravings. In orief, the publishers have given the verses called ttire. But all this fails to improve their quality. They are of the coarsest fibre. The theme is nonplace, and in spite of the serious attempt of Mr asby to write poetry, his little ballad must be ac ounted a dismal failure from a literary point of iew. Mr. Nasby is neither a poet nor a genuit humorist, and his ballad falls away below the work of Will Carleton and J. T. Trowbridge. It is diffiult to understand the motive of the publishers in rinting such stuff in such gorgeous style.

OUNG AMERICANS IN JAPAN. The adventures of the Jewett Family and their Friend Oto Nambo. By Edward Greey. Boston: Lee & Shephard. Atlanta: Phillips & Crew.

The author of this rather engaging book was ember of the expedition that, twenty-seven year ago, requested that the harbors of Japan be opened to the distressed ships of other nations. His expe rience in that country, together with a vast amoun of entertaining information relating to the man ners, customs and home-life of the Japanese, i woven into a fictitious adventure of an America family. The book is not without humor, and is probably, with all its fiction, the most accurate work on Japan that has yet been published. It is intended for young people, but it is entertain enough to attract the attentionof the old folks. It is profusely illustrated with full-page and letter-pres engravings.

Dealing With Polygamy.

New York Nation.

The reason the government finds it so hard to deal with polygamy is that polygamy is part of the marriage question, in which the federal government has no real locus standi whatever. There is, if we may use the expression, no federal sexual morality at all. There ought to have been, doubtless, a provision in the constitution giving it jurisdiction of marriage, but there is not. It is much more important, really, that marriage should be within its control, than bankruptcy, and very much more important that the United States should live under a uniform marriage law than under a uniform bankruptcy law; but at present we cannot have one. It seems as if all the effective force of the supreme bench occupied their winters in the delights of soft music, champagne, and that modified can-can, the German, or that tamed cachuca, the racquet. Perhaps if the judges and their clerks went to fewer parties, we would hear less of the court being "several years behind with the docket."

Postal savings banks exist in Germany, Switzerland and England, so that our government does not enter upon an untried experiment if they are established here. The object is to encourage habits of thrift and economy by providing for the people absolutely safe depositories for small sums. Thereis no country where this is more needed than our own. Americans are notoriously prodigal. A foolish notion obtains that it is mean to be saving. Hence we have, as a people, actually never learned the art of saving small sums. In part this is due to the fact that there have been no small and absolutely safe securities drawing interest. Then there were no savings banks, save during a short time when institutions under that name, managed frequently by scoundrels, swindled the poor and laughed in their faces when charged with it. #### The Leaven in North Carolina.

The Leaven in North Carolina.

Charlotte Observer.

The indications have been sufficiently manifested to leave little doubt that a strong effort is to be made to Mahoneize North Carolina, and the republican leaders in this state, backed by the party leaders at Washington, are laying their plans and manipulating the wires with that view. What following such may have is a matter of speculation, and depends, to a great extent, upon the policy pursued by the democratic parry. We are not among those who are alarmed by the boasts that our enemies make; nor are we among those who shut their eyes to the dangers that threaten, and try to persuade themselves that the dangers have no existence. With a solid republican vote on one side there is not democratic margin enough to bear much cutting down by dissensions or by desertion. The first the wiley republican managers will encourage, the second they will foster and bid for.

Our Own Household.

The solid democratic element of Georgia, which desires to preserve its strength and purity and perpetuate its power, will not look for an expression of its principles and aspirations in the columns of a journal which admits that it is in favor of Mahoneism in Georgia. Certain papers and certain politicians attempted to enter the wedge a little over a year ago, and this, too, under the disguise of democracy, but the dead-lock in the senate forced them back into the democratic rafiks. The contest to prevent Riddleberger from being made secretary of the senate did a great service in Feorgia politics and showed the country where he political leaders were drifting. Those journals which can hardly be expected to express the senaments of pure democracy. The solid democratic element of Georgia, which

It is the universal verdiet that the great exposition, now in "full blast" at Atlanta, is a wonderful sight. It marks an era in the industrial history of the south. It has come up to—rather it has gone beyond the largest and most splendid expectations. To say that it is a success only faintly outlines the reality. To be appreciated—to obtain anything like a just conception of its magnitude, variety and completeness, it must be seen, and seen not hurriedly—not at a gallop—but leisurely and long, as when one looks out upon the broad, broad sea, bright with its green isless and beautiful with the snowy sails of the busy nations of the earth.

The Appeal has already called the attention of its readers to the coming great day of the Atlanta fair, Tuesday next, December 6th. That day is "planter's day" at the exposition, an occasion on which every planter is called upon to be present in Atlanta who can possibly be so. On that that day the planter, his work, his interests, his prospects, his indrances and the influences inimical to his success and unjust to his rights are to be considered and discussed in solemn conference, and means to advance his condition and remove what is inimical to his prosperity are to be devised. For instance, the oppressive and unjust exaction of the cotton-tie duty, and the effort of the cotton-tie duty, and the effort enow making by interested parties to raise that duty from the present thirty-five per cent to a permaof the cotton-tie add ty, and the effort now making by interested parties to raise that duty from the present thirty-five per cent to a permanent seventy per cent rate, will receive distinct attention, and provision will be made for opposing and counteracting that grievous wrong done to American industry, by calling upon congress to abolish the cotton-tie tax altogether. That the convention may have the influence and authority necessary to declare, promote and protect from all assailants the interests of the planter, it is necessary that the planters sunction it and accentuate its decisions by their presence. #### DRIVING THE SPIKES.

Interesting Developments in the Railroad Situation St. Louis, December 3.—General Dodge, presi-lent of the Pacific railway, American and Internation and Great Northern construction companies says the New Orleans Pacific from Shreveport to New Orleans will be completed by the first of the year. A branch of the Missouri Pacific is to be built from Alexandria to the state line of Arkansas, where connection will be made with the Iron Mountain. Before the expiration of the coming year direct communication between St. Louis and New Orleans will be established and known as the St. Louis and New Orleans short line. The International and Great Northern, from San Antonio to Laredo, Texas, will be finished by December 15th, and as soon as this work is completed an iron bridge is to be built over the Rio Grande, and then the Mexican extension will be pushed forward rapidly. The extension will be known as the Mexican, Oriental, Inter-Oceanic and International railway company. It will be 700 miles in length and run almost on an air-line from Laredo to the City of Mexico.

Iron Crossiles.

Mr. L. Scofield, formerly of our city, has commenced the manufacture of his new railroad crossities at Wyandotte, Michigan. The Herald of that place has the following notice of it:

"It is well-known that a company has been formed, of our townsmen, for the manufacture of what is known as the Scofield patent from crossite, and that the relis were being put in place and preparations made to roll the ties. Yesterday afternoon, everything being in readiness, the rolls were tried for the first time. From three bars of iron put through the rolls two iron ties were turned out, tried for the first time. From three bars of iron put through the rolls two iron ties were turned out, nearly perfect in every respect, but with no imperfections which time and more experience will not fully overcome. We are informed by Mr. Scofield that these two iron ties are the first ones ever rolled on-the American continent, and it is believed by the inventor and patentee, that the iron crossic is destined to immediately supersed the wooden ties in yards and on bridges, and in the far west, where wooden ties are as expensive as iron ones."

The Texas Pacific. The Texus Pacific.

Galveston, December 3.—A special to the Newsfrom Fort Worth says that in the work of connecting the Texas Pacific track with that of the Southern Pacific at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon, two of the last spikes were driven by Mrs. W. The first engine passed over from the Texas Pacific to the Southern Pacific track, and after the placing of gold and silver coins on the track by the magnates present the party broke up.

The leading citizens of Loganville have arranged to have a railroad meeting on Friday, December 9th, it Loganville, to discuss prominent points of interest in the proposed railroad from Covington to the Air-Line railroad. The road was chartered at the ast session of the legislature—Thomas Camp, of Lovington, Georgia, and other prominent citizens being the incorporators. They propose to finish the road in time to move the next cotton crop, and t is thought by competent judges that this will be one of the best paying roads in Georgia.

The exposition to day at Wenona temple promises o be a grand affair. Beside the work of the chir-ren, Messrs. Doutney and Dwyer, the world re-owned temperance evangelists, will take part in

The following is the programme:

Public Exposition of Temple Work; "The Bendage of Drink," Master Boyd Green; Music, Voluntary; "Nothing but Leaves," Miss Carrie Tryon; Song, Mr. William Dwyer; Speech, by the celebrated temperance evangelist, Mr. T. N. Doutney, who comes indorsed by the first temperance men and women of the country; Clasing Ceremonies.

At these meetings the seats are free and no collection taken up. Strangers visiting the city cannot spend an hour more plea startly or profitably than at these meetings. Promptly at 2:30 o'clock the exercises will commence, continuing an hour, at Good Templar's hall, 65 whitehall street.

About noon yesterday Mr. J. K. Hudson, of Ten-pessee, was assaulted by two negro men near the old rolling mill and robbed of nearly $500. He was valking among the old breas works in that locality and was little thinking of an assault when the two near rushed up behind, and grabbing his arms, be-A Big Fight. Tom Iverson, the celebrated colored card manipulator, comes to the front again. Yesterday he and Frank Hemer, another off colored citizen, undertook to pass an hour or two in gaming. Iverson held the cards and won Homer's money, which caused a fight. In the fight Iverson used his rezor, and Homer now carries three ugly gashes in his shoulders and breast.

With His Horse. It will be remembered that some weeks ago a white man went to Mr. Charles Wells' stable and hired a horse for an hour's ride, and that that was the last seen of either. It will also be remembered that Mr. Wells employed a man to follow the thief. Yesterday the pursuer returned, having recovered the horse. The thief made his escape.

Loses His Wealth.

Yesterday Mr. Janes: Hammond, who resides in South Carolina, and who has been visiting Atlanta for the past week, lost his pocket book somewhere on Marietta street between the cotton factory and the post-office, "The purse contained a little over $250 in money and some papers. The latter are of value to the owner alone, and will be thankfully received by the South Carolina citizen.

FINANCIAL FACTS.

NEW YORK, December 3.-Share speculation was regular at the opening, but was in the main firm and 1/2 to 1 per cent higher; the latter for Nashville and Chattanooga. A feverish tone characterized the early dealings, and with the first board there vas a decline of 1/4 to 1 per cent, in which Texas and Pacific and Wabash and Pacific were mos ninent. Toward 11 o'clock speculaton assumed a strong tone, and an improvement took place of & to 34 per cent, in the general list, 2 per cent in Louisville and Nashville and 41/2 per cent in Richmond and Danville. Before midday the market again became heavy, and under the influence of a ressure to sell prices fell off 1/4 to 23/4 per cent, Nashville and Chattanooga, Northwestern, Hannibal and St. Joseph preferred, Lousville and Nashville and Richmond and Danville being the most conspicuous in the downward movement. In the final sales a firmer tone prevailed and a recovery of 1/2 to 1/4 per cent ensued, the latter for Nashville and Chattanooga, while Reading, which was exceptionally strong, rose 24 per cent. It does not require an expert to determine the liference between the hand-made harness of C. W. otes & Co. and the machine-stitched goods that re offered in the market. The superiority of these looks is too great to require more than a glance to eveal the fact. Motes's first aim is quality, and he as succeeded well in maintaining that principle business. The display at the exposition is beauful and should be seen by everybody.

"The leader of low prices," the king of bargains. John Keely was certainly the man who inaugurated in our midst the bargain counter system, and he has won for himself a trade simply immense, for bargains are to be had of him every day, in addition to his immense and well managed stock of regular goods. He never allows himself to be excited by the mere desire to appear to sell goods at a figue below their value. Before he advertises bargains he has got to know the lact that what he offers cannot be dupleated, and this is the correct plan, for the public cannot be duped successfully in this matter. He offers this guarantee to his patrons: "Whatever so called bargains you find elsewhere, come here and he will beat it." He says: "Don't spend a dollar until you have examined his stock and prices." Now, we only quote his words, and he means business in the matter. His sales have been immense, for the past few weeks, and this is a guarantee that there is something in his goods and prices. Read the Captain's notices and give him a call. Examine thoroughly his goods and prices. This, he says, is all that is necessary to convince.

About eight years ago a man by the name of Taylor, left his wife and five children in Schley county, from some frivolous reason, and soon after he left there was another son born to them. All the property that they possessed was one mile which Taylor carried off with him. Mrs. Taylor had worked hard—was raising her children in admirable way and was making some money. She had not hea? from her husband from the day he left until recently, while passing one of her neighbors she was called in to "see something," when she discovered it was her long missing husband. She fainted and fell. That afternoon he accompanied her home, and the next day she visited her Primitive Baptist brethen to know if it would be against the church regulations for her to be the wife of Taylor again. They did not object, and all is well now.

Calhoun Times.

For the first time in several years Calhoun is called on to record a fire and, what is worse, the pure act of an incendiary. The house in question is the property of Judge Fain, located in the northern part of town, west of Mrs. Prickett's and near the railroad, and has been occupied by Mr. John Donsey, though at present vacant. It was first discovered by Mr. simply about 4 o'clock Tuesday morning, and the report flew with its lightning rapidity, was soon everywhere, and the citizens ran to the rescue—but to no avail—the flames were so consuming that any attempt to extinguish them would be useless. The cottage was hourdsome wood and brick building and was worth about $1,000 or $1,500, and was insured for $1,000. Calhoun Times.

Thomasville Times.

We learn that on Monday or Tuesday last, near the town of Caire, Mr. Robert Maxwell shot and killed a negro, one Adam Zeigler, for attempting an outrage on his little daughter. Mr. Maxwell, upen learning of the attempt of the negro, seized a double barreled shot gun and pursued him. Coming up with him Mr. M. ordered him to surrender. The hegro kept going, when Mr. Maxwell fired a load of bird shot at him. This failed to arrest his fight, when the other barrel, containing buck shot, was fired into him. He was carried to a house, where death ensued in a short time. Before dying he stated that Mr. Maxwell had served him right. The inquest, embodying these facts, according to our informant, was held by Squire Richter. Zeigler's fate will be a warning to others. Thomasville Times.

help. The wild rush for a big pile of surplus money alarms me, for the older I grow the sure I am that the surplus will not bring happiness of be a blessing to the children. There is no security except in b-mest industry, and boys wont work whose fathers are rich. Old Agur was right. "Lord give me neither poverty nor riches, lest if I be sick I take thy name in vain or lest I be poor and steal." But there is some conifort in this great change from the old to the new. The common people have a better chance than they used to have. All classes are assimulating and becoming more alike—more on an equality. One man is about as good as another now, if not better. The Joe Brown type is in the ascendant, and the humblest man has an equal chance for the highest honors. So let it rip along for a wise Providence is above us.

But if I was going to hunt round among the young men for governor I wouldent take any man that Grady named as my first choice. I would hunt for a man who had brains, and culture, and heart, and who had enough money in his "bar!" to keep him from hankering after more—and that man is Grady. I wonder how he would like that. Maybe he will say that Arp can put it on as thick as he does.

Born in Eighteen Hundred.

I. George Schoerger, born in 1800, in the dukedom of Baden, Germany, have been in America for twenty-six years, and for twenty years have suffered with Salt Rheum. I had ugly sorrs on my limbs, and the constant itching sensation was intolerable. I consulted many physicians, subjected myself to their treatment and spent a great deal of money. Medicines were used which subdued the trou ble for a short time; but it would soon re appear, and my limbs grew worse than ever. All kinds of liniments had been used without success, when one day the medicine dealer. Mr. G. Jacob Bolg, came into my house and called my attention to the wonderful results which he had obtained in so many cases by the use of St. Jacobs oil. I did not have much faith in the article, but thinking the sum of fifty cents would not ruin me, I bought a bottle, rubbed my legs twice a day with the remedy, and the result was wonderful; for with the first application I was greatly relieved, and after using only one bottle of St. Jacobs Oil, my legs are to-day as clear and clean as those of a youth of eighteen years. I therefore advise all who suffer with Salt Rheum to try St. Jacobs Oil, because they will have the same experience and benefit. My address is Republic, Ohio.

A Wrong Idea.

Many persons having gotten the wrong idea that hops are strengthening, have taken to drinking beer and ale very freely. The consequence is they feel better for a short time, but when the reaction comes they are much weaker than before. Reader, if you value life, lay aside all malt and alcoholic beverages and put your trust in that temperance preparation of iron and vegetable tonics called called Brown's Iron Bitters. It gives real health and strength to every part of the body, refreshes the mind, and restores the nervous system to its proper standard. Over 1,000,000 bottles have been sold this year.

A native Georgian, we are proud of this gifted lady and of her writings. It is a pleasure to state that another edition of her book will soon be issued.

The Giant Bary.—At No. 30 Peachtree street a sign amounces that the largest baby of its age is on exhibition within. Entering you find the statement about correct. The child, whose name is Harry Castleman, is just thirty-nine months old, and weighs 130 pounds. His limbs are large and symmetrical, and his face is real pretty.

New Firm.—The new wholesale grocery house corner of Pryor and Line streets has been opened and is destined soon to be in the front ranks of Atlanta commercial circles. The new firm is composed of W. J. Tanner, C. E. Currier and W. A. Heath. They are all young men of fine business qualifications and will soon be well known as wholesale grocers.

DR. C. L. REDWINE—As will be seen by advertisement in another column, Dr. Redwine has again commenced the drug business in our city. His large acquaintance, sterling integrity and thorough knowledge of business will make him successful. For the present he will occupy his present quarters on Whitehall street, but as soon as possible be will have one of the most prominent stands in the city, and will be pepared to serve his many friends promptly and efficiently.

The Riple Tournament.—The rifle fournament to be held near Atlanta under the auspices of the Gate-City Guard, promsses to be a much more important affair than was at first anticipated. It has been found necessary to open the matches on Monday, December 19, instead of December 12, as at first proposed, in order to answer the large number of letters from riflemen in different states, we give them time to prepare to be here. The programme of the various matches will be published next week. The range and targets will be ready on Wednesday next. The distances will be 200, 500, 800, 900, and 1,000 yards.

GETS AWAY.—Yesterday Merritt Hensley, a white math, whose home is in Nashville, was taken before Judge Rhae for a preliminary trial upon a warrant changing him with burglary. The evidence established the fact that Hensley had robbed his roommate of three dollars while they were at the Brown house, on Decatur street, and assessed his boad at $500. Being unable to secure bail, the prisoner, in charge of Bailiff Farr, started to jail, but before reaching his destination succeeded in escaping. In all probability he is many miles from Atlanta at this writing.

A LECTURE TO NIGHT.—To-night Judge James Jackson will deliver a lecture at the First Methodist church, to which young men especially are invited. While the public generally would be cordially welcomed, the lecture will embrace topics and matters which are more directly interesting to young men than to other portions of the community. Judge Jackson is well known as a pleasing and instructive orator, and we can safely promise those who go out to hear him that a most interesting fecture is in store for them. A day or two since The Constitution stated that this lecture would occur Monday night. This was an error. The lecture will be delivered to-night at the First Methodist church, and we bespeak for Judge Jackson a large audience,

A PLEASANT SUCCES.—People have ceased to wonder at success when ability, experience, capital and a pleasing address and affails manners are united in business and brought to bear on the rise or fall of a firm. It is, however, in this connection a most pleasant duty for us to note the success which is attending the enterprising hatter on Whitehall, Mr. J. A. Christian. Mr. Christian has infused new life into the business, overhauled things, and to-day presents an unsurpassed line of the very latest styles of hats of every grade, embracing English holiday silk hats, Stetsons, and in fact everything in fine silk and stiff hats. These goods are bought directly from the manufacturers, E. Morris, of Philadelphia, J. B. Stetson & Co., and other manufacturers. The arrangement of the store is exceedingly tasteful and reflects credit upon the enterprising proprietor. See his adverupon the enterprising proprietor. See his adver-tisement in another column showing an interior view of his store.

Miss Claire Scott.—The performance last night Miss Claire Scott.—The performance last night at the opera house was a revelation to our people. Claire Scott came here entirely unknown, but she is no longer so. She immediately won her way to the hearts of her audience, and the hearty plandits showed how she was appreciated. Lucretia Borgia is a strong play, and it takes an excellent company to interpret it properly, and very few actresses have dared to attempt the leading role, and to say that Claire Scott did well does not half express it. To the audience the performance seemed a reality: there was no apparent acting—it was all a reality. Claire Scott is a success and is destined to enroll her name on the scroll of fahme. Her support is excellent, every artist being fully up in the parts required of them. Special mention must be made of S. K. Coburn, who enacts the difficult role of Gennares. The costumes are superb and reflect great credit on the company.—[Logansport Journal, November 4, 1881.

tumes are superb and reflect great credit on the company.—[Logansport Journal, November 4, 1881.

The Chimes of Normandy.—The production of this gem of an opera by the Hess Acme cotypany last night to a large and highly enthusiastic audience was the farewell of the troupe. It is unnecessary to say that the cast was excellent, and that each and every one was satisfactory in his and her impersonation. Having spoken of this opera in a former issue of The Constitution we will not repeat. The graceful and melodious music of the sunshiny Olivette; the sparkling gems of its score; the "gobble duet" and minstrel song of the pretty Mascotte, and the beautiful little chimes will linger around the theater as rendered by the picasant voice of the vivacious and mirth-provoking Miss Emma Elsner. The walls will echo to the loud applause which at each preformance greeted the appearance of Miss Adelaide Randall; also the picasing baritone of Mark Smith; also the voices so good in song of the Peakes, Fairweather, Allen and Wilkie. To this will be added the voices of a fresh, good chorus and a nicely bal anced orchestra. Mr. Hess certainly deserves praise for the ability and discretion which he has exercised in selecting his company. He keeps up his standand of giving opera good principals, a strong and well trained chorus, and an orchestra well held by the conductor's baton. The amusement-loving people of our city refused to release his hand in a farewell until it had "booked" at DeGive's opera-house for another rare musical treat.

There is not a farm, I believe, in our neigh borhood where a bottle of Hamburg Drops can not be found; for Chills and Fevers are very prevalent with us. But the folks know well, that, if they only use Hamburg Drops in good time, they can save many a doctor's bill.

To strangers who visit the city, Beware of those "Cheap Peter Funks;" Huzza & Co. will do your repairing And put the best work on your trunks.

Of trunks, Saratoga, Bridal and Palace, Their store is filled with the best; And we can truly say without malice That there's the place to invest.

Their sample cases are models of beauty, Their sample trunks the best to be round,— For Huzza & Co. make it their duty To warrant them light, strong and sound.

The men they employ are the best That ever worked upon trunks. Their motto, "One Price," is the test That bothers the "Cheap Peter Funks."

So after this musical ditty You had better go visit their store, On Whitehall street, in the Gate City, And No. 12 is over the door.

The above is translated from an old and defaced nanuscript found by Poctor Schlieman on the site of ancient Troy, and is supposed to be the production of one Homer, a traveling man and trunk naker of those days.

Hotel Matters.

The many friends of W. H. Selden, formerly of the Kinball house, will be glad to know that he is doing well. He and Mr. S. B. Robbins, formerly of the Planters, in Augusta, are now keeping the Metropolinan in Washington City. They have been there for twelve months and the success has exceeded their expectations. For comfort, cleanliness and convenience there are few hotels in the country that equal the Metropolitan. Being southerners they know how to make their guests feel at home, and no one ever stops with them who does not desire to return. Senator Brown has been boarding there the last two sessions, and has again rented rooms there for the coming winter for hinself and family. Senators Vance, Hampton Ransom and Lamar and several others of the southern delegations board there during the sessions of congress, and pronounce it the most homelike place of any they have ever known away from home. There will be a still larger number of congressmen there this winter, as many have already engaged rooms there. It is the most convenient hotel in the city for persons coming In from the south, being only one block away from the depot and fronting on the avenue. The increasing number of their guests proves the excellence of the house.

The attention of our readers is invited to the advertisement of The Christian Index, which appears in another column. This journal was established more than sixty years ago, and has steadily advanced in merit until it combines all the elements necessary to constitute it the equal of any religious publication in the United States. Dr. H. H. Tucker, one of the best writers of the whole country, is at the head of its editorial staff, assisted by Dr. D. Shaver, whose ability as a scholar and writer cannot be questioned; then we find Dr. Samuel Henderson, a great and good man, presiding over its Alebama department, while Dr. W. N. Chandoin zealously and ably superintends the department assigned to Florida. No religious journal in the union has an abler editorial corps men who comprehend, and have the power to maintain the tenets of the great denomination they serve.

The Christian Index goes forth, weekly, to its thousands of subscribers, freighted with the choicest matter. Those who enjoy its visits regard it most highly. Its intrinsic merit commends it, specially No every southern Baptist, and we do not hesitate to say that such as neglect it, neglect themselves.

ed the heads of the wax figures in the centennial buildings. The whole lot went for $10, and they were bought for Bunnell's museum, in New York. Blazing cheap wigs, I can tell you; but they couldn't have been made of real hair, could they, Buch?" said the old gentleman, appealing to the well known wig-maker, who stood by. Mr. Buch said he thought not, and then the conversation turned on hair, wigs, wig-making, famous theatrical wigs and their owners. Nearly all the theatrical wigs and their owners. Nearly all the theatrical wigs worn in this country are made by Myers and Helmer & Gluth, of New York, and A. M. Buch, of Philadelphia, although there are many actors, like James Deane, Geore Bostick and J. W. Edwards, who make wigs more skillfully than professional perruquiers. This is notably the case with Mr. Deane, who received $300 from John McCullough for a King Lear wig and beard of white hair which is thirty-two John McCullough for a King Lear wig and beard of white hair, which is thirty-two inches long and cost $75 an ounce. Two ounces and a quarter of hair were used and the wig and beard, when finished, weighed a trifle over three ounces.

WHERE THE HAIR COMES FROM

The hair used in manufacturing wigs comes from all parts of the world. The natural blonde is imported from Sweden and Norway. blonde is imported from Sweden and Norway. Dealers in the south of France supply great quantities of dark hair, and thousands of pounds of black hair is brought from Italy to New York every year. The cheapest hair comes from China, but it is rather coarse, and is used in manufacturing lower grade theatrical wigs and back pieces and braids for ladies' street wear. By bleaching and dying, Chinese hair can be given any color that is desired, but it assumes auburn shades best, and as those shades are now fashionable, an enormous quantity of this coolie hair will be used in ladies' wigs before the reigning color craze is over. The Swedish hair is rarely longer than twenty-two inches, and on reaching this over. The Swedish hair is rarely longer than twenty-two inches, and on reaching this country is always dirty and teeming with insect life. The French hair is generally clean, but the Italian hair, which comes to New York in 100-pound bundles, is exceedingly filthy, and the workmen who clean it before it is purchased by the wig-makers, frequently contract diseases from handling it. Dyed hair is called "dead," and it becomes harsh after being worn a short time. Chemicals are used to give it a glossy appearance. In additional contracts of the contract of used to give it a glossy appearance. In addition to the human hair referred to, large quantities of Yak and Angora goat hair and

PRICES REGULATED BY COLOR. Natural hair varies in price according to the prevailing fashionable color and rare shades of light and auburn hair a yard long costs from $150 to $175 an ounce. Clara Louise Kellogg has a blonde "Marguerette" wig, the hair of which is a yard and four inches long, and cost $150 an ounce in Paris. Four and a half and cost $150 an ounce in Paris. Four and a half ounces of hair were used, and the wig when completed cost $700. She wore it half a dozen times and then sent it to a wig maker in Chicago to have it dressed, and he burned it so bady that when it was repaired by Mr. Buch, a few months ago, two hundred dollars' worth of hair was taken out of it. Hair smuggling is very profitable, as several thousand dollars' is very profitable, as several thousand dollars is very profitable, as several thousand dollars worth may be carried in the pockets of a vest; but the experience of a smuggler named Jansen, who had $5,000 worth of blonde hair seized by the customs officials in New York in 1880, had the effect of greatly checking the practice, but it is still carried on to some extent in New Orlands. leans. The price of a wig depends entirely upon its style and the quality and quantity of hair used; but as actors thoroughly appreciate the value of first-class wigs they are, as a rule, willing to pay good prices for what they want. J. L. Stoddard has over 300 character wigs; C. W. Couldock owns 140; William Warrzood Boston bear search by a dark F. Warren, of Boston, has several hundred; E.

acter wigs; C. W. Couldock owns 140; William Warren, of Boston, has several hundred; E. L. Davenport had a trunk full; George Griffith has over fifty wigs for old men; John McCullough travels with a trunk full of fine ones; Edwin Booth's wigs number about fifty, Hamlet being the only part he plays without a wig; John S. Clarke has several dozen, and the wigs he wears at night are always dressed by a professional wig maker in the afternoon. Joseph Jefferson has but few wigs, but they are very fine. The light brown curly wig he wears in the first act of Rip Van Winkle weighs less than an ounce, and was made by Leon Perit, of Paris. The gray wig used after the sleep cost $150, and was manufactured by Myers, of New York. Rose Wood paid Buch $90 for a blonde wig last year, and Fanny Davenport had one that cost $150. Ada Gilman boasts of a beautiful red dress wig which cost $125, and Marion Booth invested $100 last year in a blonde boy's wig, made of baby hair, that cost $50 an ounce.

A COMEDIAN'S DILEMMA.

When Sothern played the Crushed Tragedian here for the first time his wig was stolen from his dressing room after the second performance. The loss was not discovered until 3 o'clock the next day. Buch was sent for "I must have a wig made before 7 o'clock this evening." said the convedient

"It is impossible," replied the perruquier.
"It is not. Fix your own price for your work; but have the wig at the theater this

"It must be there," interrupted the actor.
"I shall depend upon it. You are wasting your time now."

your time now."

Buch got a description of "Fitz Altamont's" flowing locks and went away. Five minutes before the appointed time he appeared at the theater with the wig complete.

'What is your bill?" inquired the actor.

"Thirty-five dollars," replied the wig-

"There is $50," said Sothern, handing Buch that amount of money. "Now, never tell an actor you can't make a wig in three or four hours."

The favorite wig of John Wilkes Booth, President Lincoln's assassin, was made of the hair of his sweetheart, a Miss Becket, of Richmond, Virginia. She died of typhoid fever, but her head was shorn before death and her lover had the beautiful light brown hair woven into a wig. Clara Morris has a black wig that cost $120, and Rose Coghlan is happy the possession of a light blonde and an u wig, each of which cost over $100.

that at a little distance it is imperceptible. The netting used in one wig costs from $5 to $8. Modern bald spots are made of a patent substance not unlike cork, and it is light, flexible and has a natural color. Wigs made in this country are fully as good and natural as those made in London or Paris—indeed, many actors hold that foreign wigs are inferior in appearance on account of the large quantities of hair many of them are adorned with. The wig in which Barry Sullivan played Richard III., in this country a few years ago, weighted five ounces. The class of tawny blonde wigs which became so popular in this country after the first visit of Lydia Thompson's burlesquers were nearly all made of yak hair, bleached and dyed. Wigs of this kind are only worn now by varicty hall prima donnas and the ballet girls in spectacular plays. These wigs cost from $5 to $10, and are frightful objects when seen in the light of day. SAVED FROM A HORRIBLE DEATH

QUINCY, ILLINOIS, November 1, 1881. Two years ago I contracted the horrible disease, and up to May last had spent $500 for treatment by the best medical men without any benefit, on the contrary, I grew worse. My mouth and throat becoming padiy ulcerated, sores breaking out on my neck and legs. I also suffered excruciatingly with Rheumatism, growing very despondent, and my best friends advised me that the icy hand of death was fast approaching, and indeed I felt such to be the case. This was my condition in May last. I caught at S. S. S. like a drowning man at a straw. After taking two bottles I could feel a great change for the better. The sores began to discharge freely and the Rheumatism to abate. When I had taken six bottles every sore had healed, my skin began to assumed a natural appearance. I persisted in the use of S.S.S. until I had taken twelve bottle AND THERE IS NOT A SYMPTOM OF THE DISEASE REMAINING, and I feel as well as I ever did. I have gained 21 pounds in flesh and my friends wonder at my improved condition. I have recommended it to many and in every instance with complete success. I believe that S. S. S. has saved me from a horrible death, and wish I could induce every sufferer to do as I have done—take S. S. S. and be cured.

True Hearts Away Off in the antipodes—The Wife and Her "Hubby"—Among the Cocottes of Paris—Steller's Copiure of Gov-srnor Tabor's Costly Diamond.

As a bit of Melbourne gossip arising out of the recent visit of the detached squadron to Melbourne, we need not conceal the rumor, says the Glasgow Herald, which it is believed to have truth to rest upon, that Lord Charles Scott, captain of the Bacchante, has been engaged to be married to Miss Ada Ryan, daughter of Mr. Charles Ryan, of Mount Macedon, Victoria. It is said that Mr. Ryan did not readily acquiesce in the purposes of the two principals in this affair of the heart, and that at the most he would only consent conditionally-the conditions being that the duke of Buccleuch, father of the love-smitten sailor, should be consulted, in the first place, and that the affair should be postponed for twelve months. Here is how the Melbourne Bulletin (suppressing the names) has put the story in its pages: "She was a beautiful brunette, with a certain witchery in her eye that had charmed and fascinated the gallent and noble captain. As they sat together in the conservatory, he, in bluff, manly, sailor-like fashion, asked her for her hand-her heart was already his. 'Oh, my lord!' she said, blushing up to her eye-lids, 'you must really ask papa.' And ask papa that noble and gallant captain did, the next day. 'No,' said the old man sternly, "I love my daughter, and if she marries into your family I fear in the end she might into your family I fear in the end she was a fear in the end she was a be unhappy. Besides, although you can an swer for yourself, you do not know how she would be received by your people.' 'But,' pleaded the captain, 'if I write home and get my father's and mother's consent, will you not give way?' 'Well,' replied the father, 'get that fixed, and then we will talk about it, for I do not wish to stand in the way of my daughter's happiness.'' And now, as the Bulletin puts the matter, 'there is a letter speeding its way home over the snowy billows.

speeding its way home over the snowy billows, watched by two young and anxious hearts." Will it all end happily? We shall see. WHAT TO CALL HER.

When a woman addresses her partner with "Hubby," or "my dearest hubby," he may possibly like it if he can bear it, but most men would like to hear almost anything else. One fears that different terms of address may fol-low, which represent another mood. On the other hand, when a man addresses his spouse as "Wifee," it is almost impossible to avoid thinking of "doggy," and there is an unpleasant feeling of sickness at hearing the word. But when one hears a hushearing the word. But when one hears a hus-band address his wife as "Queenie," which is said to be the word used by one of the most distinguished authors of New England ad-dressing his better half, it seems as if the wife had her proper place in his affections. The word is expressive; it grants the superiority of woman: it enthrones her in his home. of woman; it enthrones her in his home. Quite in contrast is the reserved tone in many households. It is always "Mr. Smith" and "Mrs. Smith," and one fears constantly that Mrs. Smith, and one lears constantly that he may disturb the dignity of that house. Such severe propriety, however, can hardly endure the innovations of children. It is "mamma" and "papa" which soften one's feelings, and then they grow into the more respectable terms, "father" and "mother," until the wife calls the husband "father," and the husband calls his wife "mother". and the husband calls his wife "mother."
Where there are no children, and it is always
"Mr." and "Mrs." there is always a skeleton in the household, and love has escaped through the window, like Noah's dove in search of a new life. Then there are the severely homely terms which one finds in use by Charley's father toward his wife, the woman saying "my man," or simply "man," the husband addressing the partner of his toils simply as "wife" or "woman," a dyet, when there is a smile on the hardy faces, the words are wonderfully freighted with meaning.

After all there is nothing like simplicity and honesty between husband and wife.

THE COCOTTES OF PARIS.

At the Cirque d'Ete, says a Paris letter, was a choice assemblage of the cocottes, including Cora Pearl, who showed to somewhat better advantage than when, as I described her to you, she was seen driving through the Bois, She should retire far from the ternoon's sun. She should reare far from the gaze of the maddening crowd until the gas is lit. Her complexion, being a bit of frescoing, requires an artificial light to soften its obvious counterfeit in the evening. The composite mass of r uge, henna, pearl powder and posite mass of r uge, henna, pearl powder and cosmetic for the lips, ears and nostrils may at least be tolerated, if not admired. The fair and frail Cora was attended by a guardian of innocence in the person of a decent-looking woman, who was understood to be her maid. The mistress' figure was displayed by a tightly-fitting basque of dark blue brocaded velvet, with a wide collar and cuffs of white guipure lace. A cayalier but of mousecolored clivic with a wide const and cons of white garpine lace. A cavalier hat of mouse-colored velvet, with curling ostrich plumes and long mouse-colored gants de swede completed this grande terme. As the crowd filed out through the stalls through rows of gallants, the voices o vendors of Cora Pearl's biography rent the air Such is life in Paris. Among the other eminent ladies of the same profession was a Juno-like woman, ox-eyed, "which they were blue," with a creamy white skin, a fresh color, and Howard, originally a daughter of an English coachman, now a successful cocotte, enriched through a deceased friend's legacy. Her bonnet and dress of steel color, with pale blue plumes and trimmings, were in excellent taste. Formerly, as has been remarked, the cocotte used to die in a hospital; now she cocotte used to die in a hospital; now she spends her declining years in a chateau. SMART STELLA TAKES THE PLEDGE.

The handsomest diamond ring said to b worn by any one on the stage sparkles on the little white hand of a rather magnificent but very pretty performer, known as "Stella," of the Soldene troupe. When the highly re-fined and esthetic company played in Den-ver, some one introduced this particular star ver, some one introduced this particular star to Governor Tabor, who is a generous patron of music. During a brief conversation with her the magnate was summoned on business by a messenger. As he withdrew he, it is presumed unconsciously, remarked that he would finish his call some other time. "Oh, no, you won't," said the jaunty performer; "you will get so absorbed in those great big mines and political things that you'll forget all about poor little me." This direct slur on ubernatorial gallantry was equal to a challenge. At any rate, the governor pledged himself to return. "Ah, I don't believe any of you wicked western men without some nimself to return. "An, I don't believe any of you wicked western men without some other guarantee than your word," said the clever Miss Stella, adding, "Leave me something valuable enough to insure your return." Now, the governer of Colorado has many bags of gold, but he don't carry them in his pockets, and the only ornament of cost he worse was a magnificent diamond ring the pockets, and the only ornament of cost he wore was a magnificent diamond ring, the one huge solitaire, valued at $15,000, shining out like an electric light. The impulsive millionaire threw his jewel into her lap and made his exit. Then the smart Stella, without loss of time, packed her little portmanteau and skipped on a train bound for Chicago. When the governor called to redeem his pledge the news of her departure was broken to him by a colored waiter.
